

Second Chance Reading (SCR)

Second Chance Reading (SCR) is a program that provides a specific course for struggling readers at the middle and high school levels. In middle schools, struggling readers are assigned to a SCR class rather than their regular reading class. In high schools, SCR classes are treated as an elective course. The focus of SCR is on comprehension of both fiction and non-fiction texts, but vocabulary and fluency are addressed as well. The training includes the following strategies: Cooperative Comprehension theory/demonstrations)

- Numbered Heads Together (theory/ demonstrations);
- Practice with Think Aloud and Cooperative Comprehension.
- Cooperative Learning and Metacognitive Strategies;
- Collaborative work (theory, demonstration, practice);
- Pair Share with Generic Questions (theory, demonstration, practice);
- Fluency—Readers’ Theater (theory, demonstration, practice);
- Read Aloud and Dictated Writing (theory, demonstration, practice);
- Round Table (theory, demonstration);
- Management of SCR: Classroom Set up
